The month of November 2026 will be considered an adaptation period for the ANTH34 asset. As of the first business day of the following month, the obligations will be fully required, subjecting participants to the fees set forth in the current regulations.

Institutions already authorized to trade stock BDRs may trade ANTH34 without the need for prior expression of interest or any additional procedures, since the asset will be automatically available in the designated accounts already registered for this asset group.
